Medical Malpractice

18CV1974

Introduction

Shawn D. Jones, come before this court, who is representing himself, filed a medical malpractice claim under Wisconsin State Law and also under Wisconsin State Constitution and seeks money damages against, Dr. Burton Cox, alleging inadequate treatment, and also fail to give necessary medication, prescribing inappropriate medication and failure to act on medical recommendation to treat inflammation of scalp and also pruritus (sensory nerve endings) seems out of proportion to skin and histologic findings.

Wisconsin law defines medical malpractice as the failure of a medical professional to exercise that degree of care and skill which is exercised by the average practitioner in the class to which he belongs, acting in the same or similar circumstances.

Under Wisconsin law, medical malpractice claims, which are a subset of negligence claims, require expert testimony to establish the standard of care unless the situation is one where the common knowledge of laymen affords a basis for finding negligence. Malpractice may consist in a lack of skill or care in diagnosis as well as in treatment.

Plaintiff, Shawn D. Jones is at all times mentioned herein a prisoner in the State of Wisconsin and is currently confined in Wisconsin State prison, in Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin.

Defendant, Burton Cox, is Advanced Care Provider at Prairie Du Chien Correctional Institution, presiding over medical care for all prisoners at Prairie Du Chien Correctional. Who, at all times is mentioned is this complaint.

Fact

At all time relevant to this case, Shawn D. Jones with ongoing medical conditions regarding itching of his scalp and also diagnosed with a medical conditions of tinea. And has been prescribed several medication to treat medical conditions of tinea.

Mr. Jones complained several times to Medical Staff about the itching of his scalp and pain, and headaches and also that he have some hair loss from the medications of clobetasol.

Then Medical staff referred Mr. Jones to Dr. Cox who told him that there was nothing he could do about the itching or hair loss. Then Dr. Cox referred Mr. Jones to the dermatologist at Gundersen Health System.

On February 13, 2018, Mr. Jones was seen by the dermatologist, on that day dermatologist took a small piece of the skin from his scalp to identify the cause of the itching of his scalp and Mr. Jones told the dermatologist that medication of clobetasol that Dr. Cox has prescribed wasn't working to treat the itching of his scalp and also that he have some hair loss from the medication of clobetasol. The dermatologist then discontinued the medication of clobetasol.

In the dermatologist report, it is noted that Mr. Jones has some pityrosporum type yeast present on top of scalp.

On April 12, 2018, Mr. Jones had followed up with the dermatologist regarding itching of his scalp. Dermatologist information-Mr. Jones that he has inflammation of scalp and also Pruritus (sensory nerve endings) seems out of proportion to skin and histologic finding.

In the dermatologist report, it is noted that dermatologist recommendation is medication to treat inflammation of scalp with medication of Fluocinolone oil twice daily, Ketoconazole shampoo daily as needed and also haircuts every two weeks. And also benefit from gabapentin 100 mg tid to treat Pruritus(sensory nerve endings) seems out of proportion to skin and histologic finding.

Dermatologist also told Mr. Jones that by him keep his hair low, won't irritate the sensory nerve endings and also medication to work better down into his scalp.

Dermatologist also told Mr. Jones that stress can cause itching. Dermatologist suggested that Jones think of ways to reduce the tension in his life.

Dr. Cox failure to act on medical recommendation to treat pruritus (sensory nerve endings) seems out of proportion to skin and histologic findings and ^{inflammation} ~~inflamed~~ of scalp and also failure to provide prescribed appropriate medication.

Dr. Cox reorder the same medication of clobetasol that he ^{has} prescribed before Mr. Jones was seen by the dermatologist. Dr. Cox refuse to seeking approval of the medication of Fluocinolone oil non- formulary .

May 4 2018, Mr. Jones was seen by Dr. Cox about itching, pain, headaches and for some hair loss. Dr. Cox told Jones that there was nothing he could do about the itching or pain. But Dr. Cox told him that he can prescribe medication of Betameth Val lotion and also he can use muscle rub for the pain. Jones replied " where do they do that at"? But then Dr. Cox discontinued the clobetasol again.

And Dr. Cox Failure to inquire further into Mr. Jones severe pain and headaches when it comes to sensory nerve endings and some hair loss is a serious dermatological problem of scalp .

Dr. Cox is making medical conditions worse by not treating both the ^{inflammation} ~~Inflamed~~ of scalp and pruritus (sensory nerve endings) seems out of proportion to skin and histologic findings.

Mr. Jones treatment despite his reports to Dr. Cox that medication was not working and his condition was worsening by continuing to scratch causing some hair loss.

Mr. Jones itchiness lasts long periods of time and can be intense and scratching of scalp, it gets itchier, and the more it itches, the more Mr. Jones scratching can damage his scalp or cause infection.

Itching skin can affect the quality of Jones life. Prolonged itching and scratching may increase the intensity of the itch, possibly leading to skin injury, infection, and scarring.

Damage to the sensory nerve causes a wide range of symptoms because of the amount of function performed by the nerve. A sensory nerve, also an afferent nerve, is a nerve that carries sensory information toward the central nervous system.

Dr. Cox denied medical recommendation of haircuts because Prairie Du Chien Institution's expense when medical condition, since prisoner cannot obtain their own medical services the constitution requires prison authorities to provide them with reasonably adequate medical care. The fact that the care may be expensive does not excuse prison officials from providing it.

Dr. Cox failure to follow DAI policy 500.30.02 Section V. (J) (1) (2) (3) is stated that if the DOC ACP write order is significantly different than the recommendation of consultant or does not follow the recommendation, a DOC -3528 Change of Consultant recommendation shall be completed and forward to the specialty consultant, especially if it involves a significant recommendation or changes in medication.

Under the Eighth Amendment, "prison officials must ensure that inmates receive adequate food, clothing, shelter, and medical care, and must take reasonable measures to guarantee the safety of the inmates." Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 832, 114 S. Ct. 1970, 128 L. Ed. 2d 811 (1994) (quoting Hudson v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 526-27, 104 S. Ct. 3194, 82 L. Ed. 2d 393 (1984)). Prisoners are entitled to an environment that does not threaten their mental and physical-well being.

It seems to Jones when Dr. Cox referred him to the dermatologist, that Dr. Cox was conceding that his own judgment is not sufficient to address his medical condition, and if he disregard the dermatologist direction, he should at a minimum be required to provide a convincing explanation for his choice, and not merely to label the matter as a difference of medical opinion. Misdiagnosis or non-diagnosis resulting from failure to exercise ordinary knowledge, and skills.

Fact that Dr. Cox can not explain to Mr. Jones why he doesn't fit the criteria for the medication of gabapentin that the dermatologist recommended to treat sensory nerve ending. When Jones asking for a second opinion, Jones was denied that right to second opinion.

CONCLUSION

It defeats the purpose of sending Mr. Jones to the dermatologist if Dr. Cox not go to act on the recommendation of the dermatologic. Mr. Jones won't know what the outcomes would be if Dr. Cox carry out recommendation of the dermatologist to treat sensory nerve endings and inflammation of scalp.

Mr. Jones has no plain, adequate or complete remedy at law^{to redress} the wrongs described herein. Mr. Jones has been and will continue to be denial proper treatment by the conduct of Dr. Cox and unless this court grants the Jones injunctive to provide proper treatment.

Mr. Jones respectfully requests that this honorable court remand this case for a hearing to clear ambiguities on the record that have not been adequately resolved regarding his medical treatment, lack of understanding, and clear denial of inadequate treatment, and Dr. Cox failure to carry out medical recommendation of dermatologist to treat his medical conditions of sensory nerve and inflammation of his scalp.

Jones Declares Under Penalty Of Perjury That the Foregoing Is True and Correct.

This dated 1st day of June 2018.

Shawn Jones

Brief Summary:	Complains he was denied proper medical care.
Summary of Facts:	Inmate Jones writes he had seen a dermatologist on 04-12-18 who diagnosed an inflamed scalp and some nerve imbalance and recommended medication to treat nerve imbalance and scalp along with haircuts every 2 weeks. He complains Dr. Cox denied all of the dermatologist's recommendations. HSM Bartels was contacted. I was denied right to receive proper medical care. When Dr. Cox could not identify the cause of my pain. Because the Fluoromalone oil is a non-formulated medication Dr. Cox ordered placebo to try for following protocol for seeking approval of the Fluoromalone. And denied right to be treated for Pruritus seems out of proportion to skin and histologic findings and because Dr. Cox state I do not meet criteria for Carbapentin.
